

Bradley Bevan

Sales Director Europe Northwest

Bradley Bevan joined ELPRO as a Business Development Manager in 2019. In May 2023, he was promoted to Sales Director, responsible for the Europe Northwest region. ELPRO's quality values resonate strongly with Bradley, as a customer focused and results-oriented professional. He is pleased to be a member of a global management team dedicated to healthy outcomes within the value chain and for patient well-being.

In his current role, Bradley emphasizes the importance of improving a culture of cooperation, continual improvement, and consistent support for his team. He is dedicated to increasing revenue by optimizing ELPRO's sales process and using data-driven insights to surpass targets and ensure long-term success. About his team at ELPRO, Bradley said, "Every day we help motivate and encourage each other to achieve efficiency and progress within our group and for our clients."

Bradley is an ELPRO technology and software subject expert with several years of education and experience. Bradley received diplomas from CTI Education Group in computer sciences and software development which has enabled an enhanced technical understanding and delivery of ELPRO solutions.

Prior to joining ELPRO, Bradley started his career as an Operations Manager within the Self Storage industry from 2004. Moving to healthcare and life sciences focused business development from 2013 to 2019. Bradley's business experience combined with GxP regulatory compliance expertise results in trusted consultation and compliant solutions for ELPRO customers across the pharmaceutical and biotech markets.

"Bradley has consistently demonstrated his ability to drive revenue growth through strategic sales initiatives. His leadership has been instrumental in driving our growth and reinforcing our position as a trusted leader in environmental monitoring solutions."

– Christoph Bamert, Chief Sales Officer, ELPRO